"I have been working at MVSO for more than ten years now. If the beginning of my cooperation with MVSO was, as sometimes happens in life, rather coincidental, today I can certainly say that it was a very happy coincidence. For this period, MVSO has become not only a high-quality, but also a respected university, which is constantly developing. I could mention a number of facts that confirm this truth, however, with regard to the space for expression, I will bring at least one, which is very significant: despite the fact that the National Accreditation Office is now making efforts both to limit the number of private universities and to create pressure on those which do not show sufficient quality, MVSO obtained accreditation of their Master's degree programmes. I am pleased and honoured to cooperate with such a university. "
